Buddy Guy, back in Chicago

IN A BLUESY MOOD

January may seem calm after the holiday craziness, but at Buddy Guy's Legends, the fun is just getting started. That's because it's time for the annual "Buddy Shows," when the blues legend himself graces the stage for 16 nights during the month. At 71, the five-time Grammy winner and Rock and Roll Hall of Famer still plays a mean guitar, having recently wrapped up a world concert tour to promote his first box set, "Can't Quit the Blues." He'll be back in the recording studio soon, but in the meantime, snag tickets for these up-close-and-personal performances before they sell out. *Jan. 3-6, 10-13, 17-20, 24-27. Th, F doors open 11 am, opening bands 5:30 pm, Buddy Guy starts 10:30 pm; Sa doors 4 pm, opening bands 6 pm, Buddy Guy 11 pm; Su doors and opening bands 4 pm, Buddy Guy 9 pm. Tickets $40. 754 S.
